

Royal Society of Biology

North Western

Ecology for All

Invertebrate collection methods, identification and recording

Free Video Resource

For the spring and summer of 2020 the North Western branch had devised a series of seven, one day 'Ecology for All' courses focusing on different orders of invertebrates. In 2019 our ecology days had concentrated on ecosystems, and our 3-year strategic plan was to prepare enthusiasts, both amateur and professional for the 2021 BioBlitz.

The COVID-19 pandemic caused the branch to have a rethink about how to meet these aims, as we were loath to abandon our programme. Therefore, with most communication going online, we devised a series of short videos. You can access them at the link below

<http://bit.ly/EcologyForAll>